NORMAL SCHOOL REPORTS.

AUCKLAND.

Training College, March, 1884.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Board, the report on the Training College for the year ending December, 1883.

At the beginning of the year the

At the beginning of the year the number of students was 7 males and 22 females, total 29; while at the end it was 7 males and 19 females, total 26. Nine students presented for the matriculation examination held in December, and seven were successful, while one, Mr. James French, attended the lectures of the Auckland University College, and obtained a first class in Latin and a third class in chemistry. Ten students presented for the D certificate, and sixteen for the E certificate; but the results of these examinations are not yet known.

The attention and work of the students throughout the year has been most satisfactory, and The attention and work of the students throughout the year has been most satisfactory, and in some cases I have found it necessary to use my influence to prevent over-study in the evening. Students and other teachers who present for certificate examinations virtually lose their Christmas holidays each year, inasmuch as they have the dread of an examination at the end of January always hanging over them. I am informed that some normal schools in New Zealand continue their work until the end of January, and have the vacation in February I think, however, it would be wiser to hold the examinations during the week immediately preceding Christmas, after which those who have been examined would enjoy their holidays, and then begin refreshed the business of the new year. business of the new year.
