

No. 63.

[NEWS EXTRACT, 2nd April, 1910.]

(Telegram.)

Melbourne, 1st April, 1910.

THE tender of the Australian Wireless Company (Limited) has been accepted for the construction of wireless telegraph stations at Sydney and Fremantle, at a cost of £4,150 per station.

Five tenders were received for the work. The tender accepted gives the system indorsed by the Admiralty. The stations are to be completed within twelve months.

The range of communication will be 1,250 miles in the daytime, and probably double that distance at night.
