

FIG. 1.— The north-western face of Rainbow Mountain, showing the bare coloured ground from which the mountain has received its English name.

[Photo W. Boardman.]

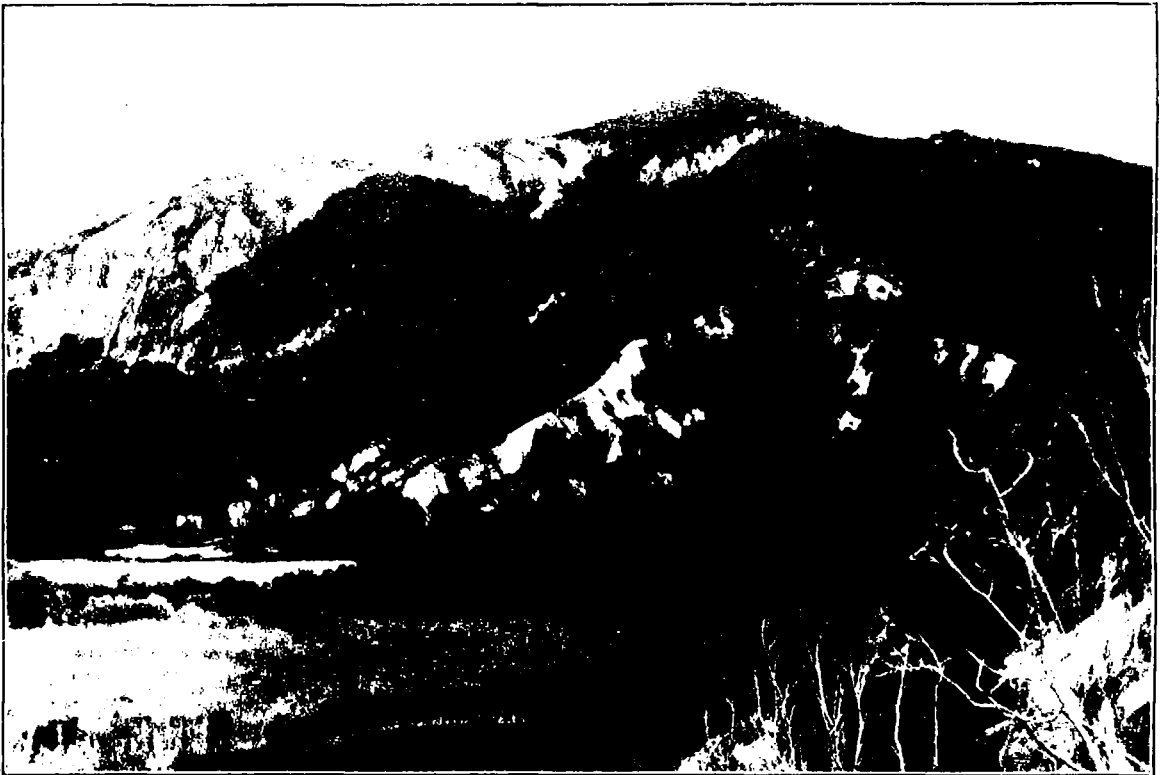

FIG. 2.— The south-western slopes of Rainbow Mountain, for the greater part clothed with aborescent vegetation. In foreground, on left, the warm crater-lake.

Face page 8.]

[Photo W. Boardman.]