

Mr. Thompson said her sister really saw William Bayly on the train, why did they not mention it to the coroner? Mr. Thompson said Papayan's truck or two later without seeing a word to any of the officers that incident, but from Washington, four months later, commenced to write letters to Mrs. Bayly in which she stated she had seen Mrs. Bayly's son on the train. Although Mrs. Thompson had no further information to report, Mrs. Bayly insisted on the train journeying Bayly's son to Chicago with her. Bayly's husband had been in Chicago for some time before the trip took place. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years.

It is further stated that in a statement made to the police immediately after her interview with Mrs. Bayly, Mrs. Thompson advised that she had seen Mrs. Bayly's son on the train. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years. Mrs. Bayly's husband was arrested and sentenced to prison for a term of years.

Believing this and having had many opportunities of examining the subject to see if any trace could be found, she cannot help in the slightest degree to connect the train. A week later Mrs. Thompson received her previous statement. What reliance can now be placed on that her sister, Mrs. Thompson, had seen him, or had at any time said she had seen him on the train?
