*In these cases no new awards have been issued since the Arbitration Court's standard wage pronouncements.

The Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Amendment Act, 1936, provides for the fixing in awards of maximum working-hours, exclusive of overtime, not exceeding forty per week except where the Court is satisfied that it would be impracticable to carry on efficiently any industry if the hours were so limited. A further provision is that where the Court fixes the maximum weekly hours at not more than forty Saturday work is to be eliminated where practicable. In respect of awards in operation at the date hereof the following tables set out the industries or occupations in which the hours are fixed at forty per week, also where the hours fixed exceed forty, and where Saturday work is permitted.
