WIT AND HUMOUR.
BRIGHT PARS GLEANED FROM THE FOUR CORNERS OF THE GLOBE.
Maud: "Is Gertie Smithers Your friend?" Edith: "Yes; what has she been saying about me?"
"We tried to buy some rope to hang a profiteer?" Well? "But the dealer wanted too much for it."
Flossie: "And what will be the outcome of your marriage with Fred?" Gertie: "What I'm thinking about is the income."
She (after the quarrel): "You used to say that you liked to see me in anything." He: "I hadn't seen you in a rage then."
Mrs Olden: "What did you marry for, my dear; love, money, position, or what?" Mrs Bridey: "For a husband."
Mrs A.: "I notice that your husband doesn't smoke. Is it because you object to it?" Mrs B.: "Oh, dear, no! If I objected to it, he'd smoke."
Pat: "Go aisy, Mike; it's three moiles we have before us." Mike: "Shure, that's why Oim hurryin'; Oi want to get there before Oim tired out."
Asked by her teacher, "What do we mean by the plural of a word?" Little Bess answered: "By the plural of a word we mean the same thing, only more of it."
"I know that circumstances alter cases," said the struggling young lawyer, "but I wish I could get hold of some cases that would alter my circumstances."
Mr Smarte: "She has a very difficult part in the new play." Mrs Smarte: "Difficult? Why she doesn't say a word." Mr Smarte: "Well, isn't that difficult for a woman?"
Sympathetic Bystander (to man searching for lost key): "Do you know where you've lost it?" Victim (on all fours): "Of course I do. I'm merely hunting in these other places to kill time."
Tommy: "Pop, what is the difference between truth and flattery?" Tommy's Pop: "Flattery, my son, consists of the nice things we say about other people; truth is the nice things other people say about us."
The Sunday-school superintendent, after talking for nearly an hour, made this appeal: "Now, children, what more can I say?" Pleathe, thir," lisped a small, weary youngster in the front row, "they amen and thit down!"
"I suppose, remarked the facetious stranger, watching a workman lay down a carpet from the church door to the kerb, "that is the high road to heaven?" "No," promptly replied the man, "this is merely a bridal path."
"But, your worship," said the prisoner, "I'm not guilty of this crime. I have three witnesses who will swear that at the hour this man was robbed I was at home, taking care of the baby." "Yes," glibly answered the country solicitor, "that is true. We can prove a lullaby, your honour."

WHAT THEY MISSED.
Weary Waggles: "An' to think we didn't go to that free concert last night." Dusty Rhodes: "Wot about it?" Weary Waggles: "This here paper says the music was intoxicatin'."
Sweden fears that, owing to lack of supplies of raw material during the war, she has lost her linen industry. Russia and Holland used to supply her with flax.
In 1850 America produced no more than half a million pounds of eandy, as against a present production estimated from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds a year.
